Where History Takes Flight!

Fire Safety... It Only Takes One

Fire is nothing to take lightly. With all of the gas, chemicals and oil inside and around a heat treat plant, it only takes a spark for a major disaster to take place. The questions are; do you have the proper safety prevention in place? Do your employees know what to do? Does the fire department have all they need to fight the fire effectively and not cause further damage? CEC Combustion Safety specializes in safety and training to ensure explosions do not occur in your plant. In this session, you will learn the keys to proper fire safety prevention measures, the elements you need to communicate to your local fire departments and protections you need to have in place to prevent a fire explosion from happening in your plant.

Connecting the Dots in the Economy, Elections and Where Manufacturing is Headed 2016 is turning out to be a key year for manufacturing. With the heat of elections, a flat economy and the impact of global nations on manufacturing... where does it all lead for your heat treat company? MTI is pleased to host a key representative from the Ohio Manufacturers' Association who will share with you their perspective on the elections, what we can expect from either party in 2017 and what it means for the economy and your business.
